Instrument Borrowing Program - 2010

Music students at St Bede’s College have the fortunate opportunity to borrow school instruments to assist them with their classroom and co-curricular study. It is a privilege to be able to play these beautiful instruments, many of which have been purchased new this year. Instruments can be borrowed overnight during the week or taken for a longer period over weekends. There is no cost associated with this borrowing program.

As part of the new Year 7 and 8 Curriculum, all music students are required to study an instrument and to be involved in class band ensembles. Co-curricular opportunities also exist for Music students to get involved in. Many students may also find that as a result of their progress on their instrument in Music class, they may wish to undertake private music lessons. The Instrument Borrowing Program can help facilitate this by enabling students to ‘try out’ private tuition, without the need to purchase an instrument beforehand.

Whilst there is no cost associated with borrowing of an instrument, there are conditions that need to be well understood and adhered to, including:

- The instrument is the absolute responsibility of the student (Parents/Guardians) whilst off school grounds. Instruments damaged or lost will require payment for repairs or replacement.
- Instruments are to be ‘signed out’ from the Music Portable at the end of the teaching day (the student name and the instrument number are recorded) with the instrument ‘Loan Monitor’. The instrument needs to be returned back to the Music Portable when the student first arrives at school the following day and signed back in with the instrument monitor. It is imperative that instruments are not forgotten and left at home, as they are relied upon for music classes to function effectively during the school day. If an instrument is accidentally forgotten and left at home, a call needs to be made to the Music Department to ensure Music staff are aware.
- Only students who have a signed permission slip are permitted to borrow an instrument.
- Students may only borrow the instrument that they study.
- If there are any problems or damage evident on an instrument, it must be reported to the Director of Music immediately.

Please feel free to contact the Music Dept for any further details.
