

Mentoring

Graduates of St. Bede's, at any age, can have a wealth of valuable knowledge and experience to share with senior students.

Whatever your trade, profession or perhaps vocation, we invite you to join the growing number of graduates who volunteer to help current St Bede's College students with advice on future career options. We don't want to make this commitment too difficult or necessarily time-consuming, so we have put together the following three options and hope that one, two or all three may suit you.

1. Career Insight Evening

This is an excellent opportunity for former Collegians to assist present-day students in a simple, practical and time-efficient way. The Old Collegians, in conjunction with the Careers Department invite current year 9, 10, 11 and 12 students and their parents will attend brief information sessions with former students about numerous careers.

Multiple venues are set up around the college for these sessions which involve a relaxed chat with a former collegian volunteer about their chosen pathway. A brief talk on the pros and cons of their work is followed with questions. If you are interested in offering your services for this event please contact Jo Hynes, The Old Collegians Officer, at the college on 9582 5999 or via email at oldcolls@stbedes.catholic.edu.au

2. Work Experience Program.

The staff in the Careers Centre at the College would be delighted to hear from businesses able to take on year 10 students for one or two weeks of work experience. Students are allowed to travel within the metropolitan area to a work placement, including the central business district. If you are willing to be put on the college work experience database please contact Jo Hynes, The Old Collegians Officer, at the college on 9582 5999 or via email at oldcolls@stbedes.catholic.edu.au

We think this is a marvelous opportunity for past students to pass on invaluable advice on their view of an industry and its future. You can choose any option or both. Please note that your input is valuable, whether you are still in training or in the early or later phases of your career. If, before making a commitment, you would like to know more about the above options, please email any questions to oldcolls@stbedes.catholic.edu.au

We look forward to hearing from you.
