

St Bede's College

Welcome to the VCE

- To be enrolled in VCE, you need to agree to follow the rules set out by VCAA and the College
 - To get your VCE, you need to do a minimum of 16 units with 3 being English
-

- There is a minimum attendance requirement of 90%. You can have no more than 10% unauthorised absences
 - Authorised absences include College events
 - Family holidays are unauthorised absences – they affect your attendance and can not be used as an excuse to miss SACs.
-

- Breach of rules are reported to the VCE administrator who investigates the breach and a VCE panel will notify you and your parents of the outcome
 - Breaches include:
 - Having an electronic device (including smart watches) during SACs
 - Plagiarism
 - Bringing in unauthorised materials into a SAC
-

• Special Provision

- You have a condition that affects your ability to complete SACs and exams with normal conditions
- There are strict guidelines about what provisions can be offered. Most common provision is rest breaks
- You must have documentation to support and may require outside tests
- See your house coordinator if you think this might apply to you

- Absence from SAC or need special provision (you have 4 days to return the form)

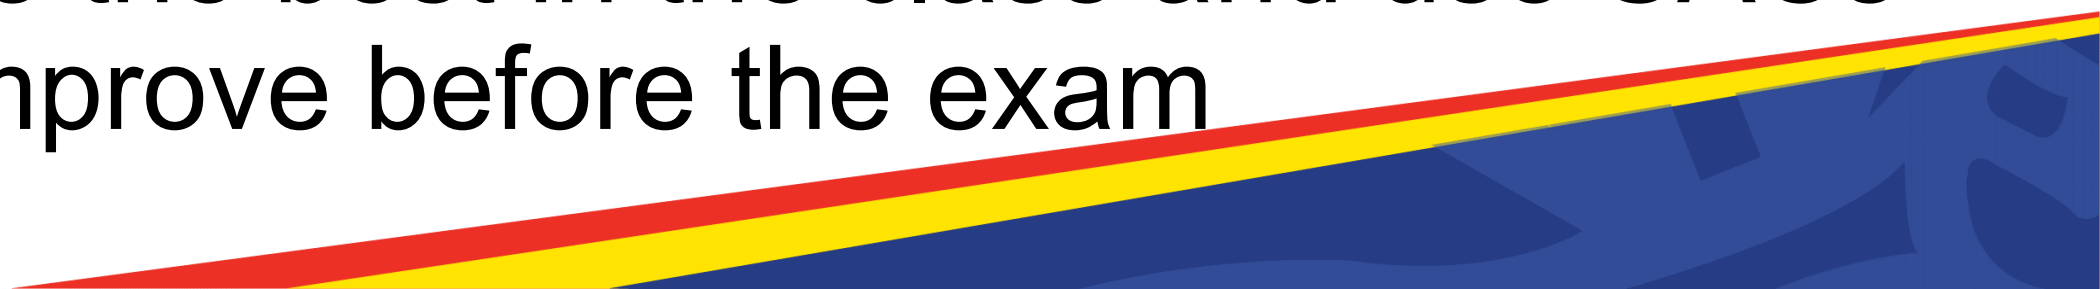

Alt SAC Date form

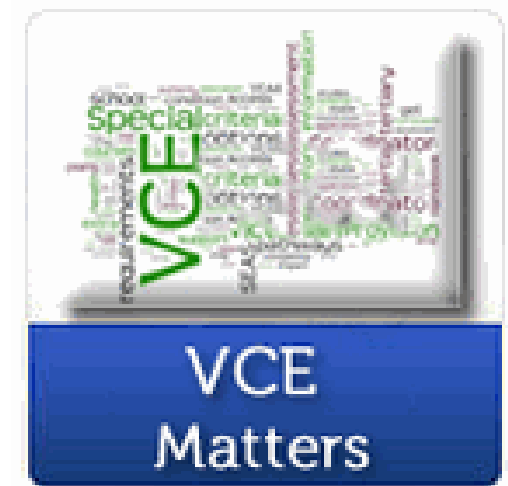

- At risk of not attaining an “S”

Student at risk

- Provisional N

Provisional N

- If you do not have a valid reason, you may get a zero but still have to do it to get an “S”
 - Scores are used for ranking and may change based on exams – your goal is to be the best in the class and use SACs to improve before the exam
-

VCE
Matters

